Greetings Saints!

On behalf of our campus community, welcome (back) to Carroll College. We hope you are settling into the semester well, and we are excited to be part of your collegiate adventure!

As a student within our community, you probably have quickly noticed that Carroll is a hard place to get lost. This is the kind of place where you find yourself - so get engaged in the life of campus! Getting involved and making connections outside of class has consistently shown to have a positive impact on academic success and creates a richer experience throughout your time as a Carroll student.

Be intentional to take the time to meet and connect with the rest of your campus community - not just other students who live on- or off-campus, but your faculty, your academic advisors, and all the administrators and staff who are here to support you.

This year's Student Handbook was developed to provide you with the information you will need to successfully navigate Carroll College. You are responsible for knowing and being a leader in following the policies identified herein. Please take time to review this information.

In addition to the Student Handbook, I want to draw your attention to important information found in the Carroll College Consumer Information Disclosure Notice. You have a right to know this information, so again I encourage you to take time to review it.

The health and well being of our campus community is critically important, and Carroll College is committed to the safety of all who study, live, work and visit campus. Carroll College is required by law to compile and disclose information about campus safety policies and procedures as well as to provide data concerning certain criminal offenses. Please take time to review the information available in the Annual Security and Fire Safety report.

Please know that we are here to support you, and we want to partner with you to set you up for continued success. To that end, should you ever have any questions, thoughts, or concerns about how we serve you and how we may improve, please feel free to share your insights so we might more effectively support you. Your ideas and contributions could be just what we need to make this place even better for the Carroll College community .

Warmest regards,

Annette Walstad
